That license is NOT in Troy Cofield's name.

We are aware of recent New Jersey jobs involving Troy Cofield.

Approximately $7,000 was paid to Troy Cofield for work that was started but not completed.

Money was given to Troy Cofield to obtain the required permit, which was never obtained.

According to property owners, the job remained unfinished, and Troy Cofield eventually stopped communicating.

BEFORE HIRING TROY COFIELD:

- ✓ Verify for yourself that Troy Cofield personally holds every license he claims to have.
- ✓ Call the municipality yourself and verify that permits have actually been issued.
- ✓ Do not assume that showing you somebody else's plumbing license means Troy Cofield is himself a licensed plumber.

Unpermitted work can leave the PROPERTY OWNER dealing with violations, penalties, inspections, unfinished work, and substantial additional expenses.

WATCH OUT. VERIFY THE LICENSE. VERIFY THE PERMIT.
